

Sons & Daughters

We need to see ourselves as belonging to God's family, not just attending church. In this session, we'll take a look at how every person has a unique and valuable role in God's family. As well as how comparison diminishes our understanding of our true value in God's family. Making space for others' uniqueness while maintaining our own is essential for church unity because God uses everyone's uniqueness in unexpected ways to build His kingdom

CONNECT

Think of someone in your life who you believe makes a significant impact in their work, community, or family. What qualities do you admire about them?

LEARN

1. How do you typically measure your value or importance in the community?
2. What unique skills, abilities, or resources do you believe God has given you?
3. When have you felt like you didn't belong in church or Christian community? How did you overcome that feeling?
4. How has your past experiences and struggles shaped your perspective in ways that could benefit others?
5. In what ways have you seen different personalities work together to strengthen community?
6. How can we better appreciate the differences in others while maintaining unity in the church?
7. What holds you back from fully engaging your unique role in God's family?
8. How can we help others recognize their value in God's family?

APPLY

This week, identify one unique aspect of who you are (skill, perspective, or personality trait) and intentionally use it to serve or encourage someone in your church family. Remember, your uniqueness is part of God's design for His family.

PRAY

Heavenly Father,

Thank you for creating each of us uniquely and purposefully. Help us embrace our role in your family while celebrating the different ways you've gifted others. Unite us as your family, reflecting your glory through our differences. Guide us to use our unique qualities to serve you and others this week.

In Jesus' name, Amen.
